

ABSTRACT

Method and apparatus are disclosed for enabling a plurality of independent entities including a plurality of shippers and a plurality of carriers having connection to a communication network to conduct business transactions relating to shipment of goods.